Boeing's commitment to Stennis celebrated

BY ED LEPOMA
AND B.R. HAWKINS

The first dreams of the early pioneers in the American space program are 40 years old. Today, if the weather holds and all goes as planned, John Glenn, the first American astronaut to orbit the earth, will return to the great beyond and with eyes that have seen more than just dreams come true will look down once again on our shimmering blue planet.

So often, world events seem removed from small communities such as Bay St. Louis or Waveland, or the Kiln. But today—as all space shuttle crew members have, on all the launches before him, Glenn and his fellow Space Shuttle Discovery astronauts will climb into the sky on rockets tested at NASA's John C. Stennis Space Center located in our own backyard.

Community economic development leaders and aerospace officials celebrated this week's announcement of the Boeing Company's decision to build and test a new rocket engine at Stennis.

Plans call for Boeing to initially spend $11 million to improve 90,000-square feet of space at the Army Ammunition Plant at Stennis for assembly, warehouse and office space to accommodate the program. The new operation is expected to provide 80 technical and manufacturing jobs, and another 75 to 100 construction jobs at Stennis.

Boeing also plans to spend $8 million to upgrade and later modify the B-1 test stand at Stennis.

The landmark agreement reached earlier this year between Boeing and NASA was followed by an agreement with Mason Technologies Inc., to locate the rocket engine final assembly facility at the Army Ammunition Plant. Mason has led efforts to market the enormous Army Ammunition Plant in order to bring more industry into Hancock County.

Mason's marketing manager, Wayne Gougnet, said negotiations with Boeing to use a portion of the plant began in earnest last February, then engineering studies were done on how best to refurbish the area, leading to the final lease agreement.

Hancock Chamber wins grant

BY ED LEPOMA

Hancock County's Chamber of Commerce is among four chambers throughout Mississippi sharing in grants from BellSouth totaling $27,000.

Amy Gregory, executive director of the local chamber, was notified this week that the Hancock chamber tied with the Alliance in Corinth for third place, and each will receive a grant of $5,000.

Hancock Chamber won for its Small Business Success Campaign plans to upgrade and publish a resource guide for existing businesses and another guide for new businesses coming into the county.

Gregory said she applied for the grant shortly after taking over the local chamber's executive post. She said, "The focal point of BellSouth's Small Business Grant Program is to find new and innovative ways to aid businesses already in the community and to attract others interested in locating in Hancock County.

"These new guides will accomplish both those goals," said Gregory. "This (the grant) is a great opportunity that BellSouth is providing for us. That's an extra $5,000 that doesn't have to come out of our budget, but can be used to enhance our overall efforts."

A Baton Rouge firm has been awarded the contract to sewer portions of the Clermont Harbor community on the lakeshore.

The recently reformed Hancock Water and Sewer District Monday followed recommendations of consulting engineer Duke Levy and awarded the contract to Magnolia Construction Company, Inc., which submitted the apparent low bid of $1,097,876.

Four other firms bid on the work, with the other bids ranging from the second low of $1.2 million to a high of $1.7 million. The District has approximately $2 million on hand from a low-interest state loan.

OLA food fest set this weekend

BY B.R. HAWKINS

Bay St. Louis is gearing up for the 15th annual Our Lady Academy's International Food Festival set Friday, Oct. 30 through Sunday, Nov. 1 on the grounds of Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church.

Every year thousands of people from surrounding communities come to partake of the festival's varied food dishes, great music, arts and crafts, games and other fun-filled events, said Sister Donella Hartman, director of the 1998 event. The festival kicks into gear Friday at 5:30 p.m.

The festival started as a fund-raising event by a small group of parents, local residents and friends of the OLA, boasts of a menu offering food from all corners of the world, including German, Greek, Italian, Oriental, American, Mexican, Cajun, Australian and local specialties.

"Of particular note, the menu this year includes selections from the 'Low Country' of Savannah and Charleston," Sister Donella said.

In what has become a local tradition, John "Chappy" Chapman, chef and owner of Chappy's Seafood Restaurant in Long Beach, will again host a booth of his famous Cajun specialties.

"Chappy with his booming voice, naturally friendly, personality and wonderful food has become quite a popular favorite among Food Fest goers," said Sister Donella. "Chappy, as usual, is keeping his menu a secret until the food fest weekend."

For more information on the festival, call OLA at 467-7048.

BY BETSY GAGNET

Candidates in the races for Waveland Mayor and Board of Aldermen spoke to an audience of about 100 Monday night during a political forum co-sponsored by the Hancock County Journalist Association (HCJA) and American Legion Post 77.

The three mayoral candidates, incumbent John Mason, Republican; Deborah Richter, Republican; and Tommy Longo, Democrat (currently Ward 1 Alderman), each addressed three questions submitted by the HCJA dealing with future commercial growth of the city, the city's budget and their qualifications for the mayoral position.

The first question asked for specific plans and programs to promote economic and commercial growth and to revitalize Coleman Avenue.

Mason said he would continue the present schedule to upgrade the city's infrastructure in order to continue to attract and handle commercial growth. He stressed Waveland's low crime rate and its fire

Rhonda Aime-Grant:

A vote for truth, strength, determination and knowledge.

This is more than my campaign slogan. It's what you'll get if I'm elected Alderman. I speak the truth without regard to its popularity. I have the conviction to do what is right. These are not promises these are facts. It takes maturity, strong family values, and most importantly, a very strong faith in God to lead. These things have guided me through life successfully. Faith and determination will lead me down the right path as Alderman.

In the past, when it came to Waveland, all we heard from our leadership was "We can't." It was just too easy to say, "there's no money." Well, "You can't" is a concept that I do not understand or accept. No single individual has all the answers. But together, with strong leadership and the great citizens of Waveland, we can stop using the word "can't."

I do not make promises to people that I am unable to keep. I will try my best to serve the people and to fight for them and the issues that affect their lives.

As Alderman, I will serve the citizens of Waveland with honesty, integrity, dedication, and my experience and knowledge. These are the values I live by every day. I will make the City of Waveland the city it deserves to be.

'Three Tall Women' marks Coast premiere

Bay St. Louis Little Theatre will offer the Coast's premiere production of "Three Tall Women," Edward Albee's Pulitzer-prize-winning play which many critics have described as his finest work.

The play opens at 8 p.m. Friday, Nov. 6 at the BSLLT Playhouse, 301 Boardman Avenue and repeats Nov. 7, 13 and 14.

The drama for mature audiences looks at the internal and external aspects of life from three perspectives defined by age and experience. It involves the coming together of a frail, confused and bitter elderly woman, her middle-aged caretaker and an idealistic young lawyer, identified only as A, B and C.

The often funny but also serious script illuminates the reality that while we enter adulthood hopefully and optimistically, uncontrollable events in later life often reshape our character and personality.

The leading roles will be portrayed by three veteran actresses: Sandy Higdon of Waveland as A, Becky Rotundo of Bay St. Louis as B and Chris Johnson of Pass Christian as C.

Lann Owens of Pass Christian is featured as "the son." Nan Ehrbright is directing and producing the play.

Backstage crew includes Thomas Schwab and Dick Ehrbright, set design and construction; Irene Mills and Helen Schwab, set decorations; Valerie Fisher, lights; Jan Dastugue and Alex Rotundo, stage managers; Dick Ehrbright, poster and program cover; and Jimmy Loiacano, photographer.

Public is invited to view Glenn's return to space

The public is invited to the Stennis Space Center Visitors Center to watch a live broadcast of the launch of the Space Shuttle Discovery at 1 p.m. today from Kennedy Space Center in Florida.

The launch will be televised on the big screen in the Visitors Center's 250-seat auditorium via NASA Television. A highlight of this mission is John Glenn's return to space.

Glenn, the first American to orbit the Earth during his Mercury capsule flight in 1962, currently a U.S. Senator from Ohio, will be making his second flight into space, this time as a payload specialist to study the similarities in the aging process and space flight.

Since the aging process and space flight experience share a number of similar physiological responses, a series of experiments sponsored by NASA and the National Institute on Aging will be conducted during the mission.

The investigations will gather information that may provide a model system to help scientists interested in understanding aging.

Space biomedical researchers and gerontologists believe more research in these areas could help older people live more productive and active lives and could reduce the number of individuals requiring long-term medical care in their later years.

While at Stennis, visitors can also experience interactive exhibits and take a bus tour of the center.

To confirm that the launch is on schedule, call the Stennis Space Center Visitors Center at (228) 688-2370 or 1-800-237-1821 (option 1) in Mississippi or Louisiana.

USF&G insurance deductible change good news for some

BY ELLIS C. CUEVAS

St. Paul-USF&G Insurance Company's decision to roll back the 2 percent deductible on homeowners insurance in Hancock County will effect some 55 USF&G insureds who filed for hurricane damages who have coverage through Hancock Insurance Agency, Betsy Ashman manager reports.

"We had 55 USF&G insureds who have already filed claims in addition to others who had minor claims, but they did not file claims because of the 2 percent deductible. We now need those policy owners who we felt did not have enough damages because of the 2 percent damages deductible to contact us in order for their claims to be turned over to adjusters," Ashman said.

She added, "It is possible they are now due some damage coverage, even if they have already made their Hurricane Georges repairs, so we ask them to call the agency."

St. Paul-USF&G was one of three insurance companies to have the 2 percent hurricane deductible in Mississippi, with the other two being State Farm and Allstate.

The three companies were asked to wave the deductible by Insurance Commissioner George Dale, because there may not have been enough notification to policy holders.

State Attorney General Mike Moore reports his office has received hundreds of complaints about the 2 percent deduction.

In a news release Moore said, "Our lawyers assigned to the Insurance Commissioner and Consumer Protection Division are working through these complaints as quickly as possible."

"CUEVAS' QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Friday morning I received a big surprise when Mrs. Sam (Bruce) Ballard appeared in the office.

She and her late husband, Sam Ballard, were publishers and owners of The Echo in June, 1957, when I began my newspaper career at The Sea Coast Echo.

In other words, I received my first newspaper experience from her and her late husband.

They sold the paper in late 1959, and it had been that long since I had seen Mrs. Ballard.

She was in town with a sister and brother-in-law visiting a sister-in-law.

Mrs. Ballard is still in the newspaper field working part-time as a classified manager for a group of five weekly newspapers in California.

After selling The Echo, the Ballards were owners of a newspaper in the Virgin Islands for many years.

Anyway, it was good to see Mrs. Ballard again, and I am sure there are still folks around who remember her and Mr. Sam when they owned The Echo.

There are all types of Halloween events going on in the county this weekend. Some are by groups, organizations, families, neighborhoods and individuals.

One big event is the annual Hancock County Historical Society's Cemetery Tour which will be from 5 to 7 p.m. Saturday in the Cedar Rest Cemetery in Bay St. Louis.

Some 10 residents will portray departed citizens of the community. This is a very interesting program and will give visitors a look back into the history of some of the community's past residents.

One year I presented a portrayal of my great-grandfather and another time of my grandfather and had a tremendous time.

I understand from Charles Gray there will be some interesting "characters" portrayed this year.

There will also be an open house at the Historical Society, Cue Street, during the cemetery tour.

A donation of $1 per person is requested for the tour. I hope to see you at Cedar Rest Cemetery Saturday night.

Also on Saturday night there will be a large number of youngsters trick-or-treating about the area.

Several streets in Bay St. Louis will be closed for this event, and this is very good.

Motorists need to be extremely careful while driving about the area Halloween.

Parents need to accompany their children and make sure they check traffic before charging across a street.

Halloween is a fun time, so let us all keep it a safe time, too!

The Hancock County March of Dimes WalkAmerica will be held Saturday with registration at 8:00 a.m. at the Bay Bridge.

The walk from the bridge to Buccaneer State Park will begin at 9 a.m.

There will be refreshments at the end of the walk, according to Jay Lagasse, Hancock March of Dimes president.

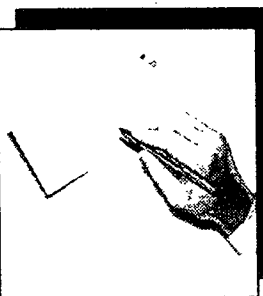

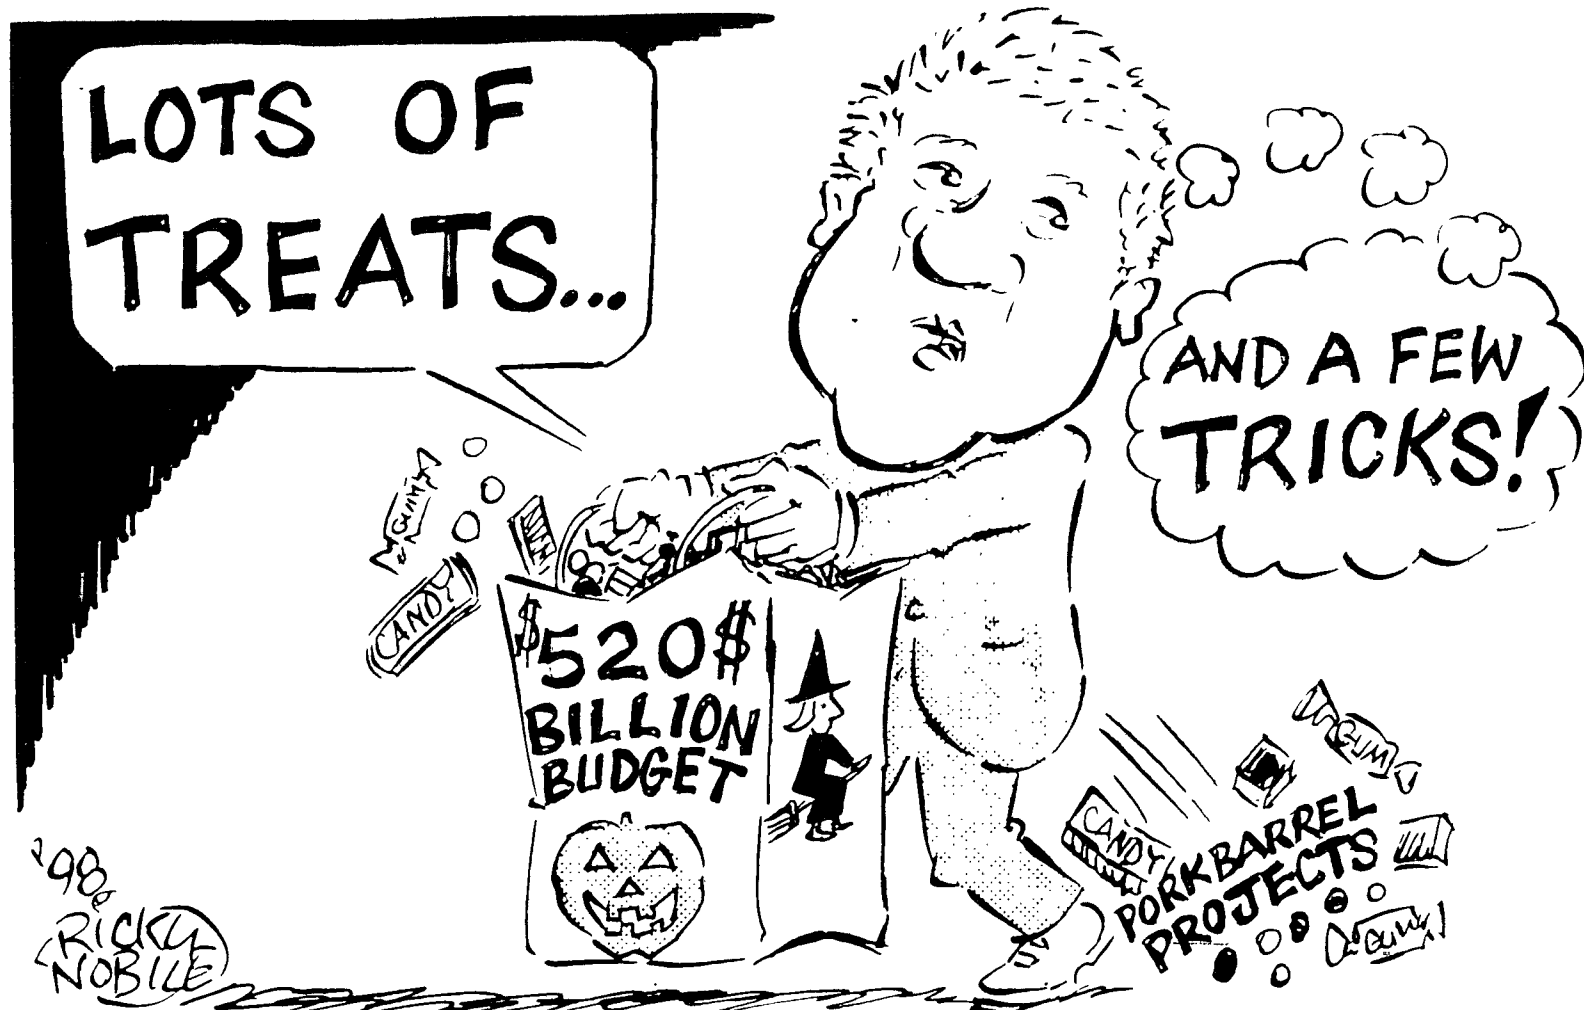

There are several groups already committed to walk for this big cause, and members are soliciting pledges.

John Wilkerson is chairman.

The group is trying to top last year's $16,500 raised in Hancock County.

March of Dimes board members include Lagasse, BellSouth; Wilkerson, Casino Magic; Joann Lagasse, RSVP; Bruce Marie, Coast EPA; and Vickie Meindl, Hancock Medical Center.

We hope to see you Saturday morning.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Voting is my choice, everyone's responsibility

To the Editor,

On Nov. 3 I will be 1,500 miles from my home in Woodbridge, Va. Still my voice will be heard because my absentee ballot is in the mail. I have never missed voting in an election since I became eligible to vote. I do it because it is my choice.

As Election Day 1998 draws near, I wonder where the majority of American voters will be. Statistics show me they won't be at the polls. That's a disgrace.

During a span of 28 years the number of Americans of voting age has increased more than 77 million while the number of voters has grown by just 26 million. It doesn't take a math professor to calculate that more Americans are failing to exercise the one right, the one responsibility that sets us apart from so many other nations — the right to freely vote for the candidates of our choice.

What is the compelling reason why Americans are not going to the polls? There is none. The biggest reason given for not voting: Too busy and no time off top the list at 21.5 percent in statistics compiled by the U.S. Census Bureau. Couple that with 13 percent who dislike the candidates and 16.6 percent who just don't have an interest and we're faced with the epidemic of voter malaise.

There is no magic pill to stop this epidemic. Yet there is a place to start — with you. Voting is essential if America is to remain strong and free. If you vote, encourage others to vote. If you are a non-voter, it's time to accept your responsibility. For our representative democracy to work well your voice and vote are needed.

I recently was driving to my home from our nation's capital. Along the way, I passed the memorials dedicated to veterans of the Vietnam and Korean wars and the site where the World War II memorial will be built. The highway took me past Arlington National Cemetery and the memorial that honors America's women veterans.

I thought about the meaning of their sacrifices, and I offered a prayer of thanksgiving for living in a nation as great as ours. Then when I got home I completed my absentee ballot.

My vote will be counted. I will never forego exercising my right to vote, a right preserved for you and for me by those who gave something more than a vote, they gave their lives.

Give election workers a big challenge on Nov. 3: Vote!

Diamondhead resident upset about lack of cook-out coverage

To the Editor,

As you know, Saturday afternoon, Oct. 17, a Republican Rally and Barbecue was held at Dr. Andrew Martinovich's residence grounds on Seabe Street, Bay St. Louis.

Featured speaker was the Honorable Trent Lott, Majority Leader of the United States Senate. Other prominent Mississippi officials and candidates for the United States, the state of Mississippi, counties of Mississippi and city elections in November attended.

Presentations and remarks by the many speakers gave the Mississippians and visitors from neighboring states a detailed picture of the prospects for the coming election and the future beyond.

The beautiful sunny fall weather, band, and delicious barbecue enlivened the affair enjoyed by the crowd of about 500.

And yet, scant news about all this in your publication. I refuse to believe the claim made by many, that oversight of this very prominent affair was driven by your editorial bias on Republican events.

Sincerely,
Juanita P. Brinsmade

Sheriff's office investigative action praised by family

To the Editor,

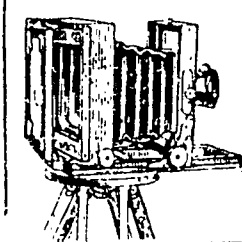

We would like to commend the local Sheriff's Office on their outstanding work on our recent theft from our home.

The deputies involved were Doron Cuevas, Joe Herrin and Investigator George Burleson. These men spent many hours investigating the loss of our property. These men perform a valuable service to this county. Many times police officers are not shown the true appreciation they deserved.

We are very grateful to have these outstanding officers serving us in our time of need.

Sincerely,
Jay and Patricia Cuevas

Fashion tips for today's working woman

Looking good is only half the battle of working smart.

Feeling comfortable and prepared are also keys to tackling the job at hand, according to 1,000 career dressers surveyed by Naturalizer Shoes through the pages of Working Woman magazine.

Whether dressing to make an impression or simply to get the job done, the following tips can help career women face any business situation with confidence.

• Be on Guard! — Keep a versatile jacket or simple dress on the back of your office door for unexpected meetings.

• Stay Smooth — Wear wrinkle-free fabrics, like knits and polyesters. But, if your “power” suit is linen, make sure the jacket is long enough to cover your lap, which is most prone to wrinkling from sitting down.

A few stitches can add that extra touch

Besides colorful foliage and cool, clear days, fall also brings the opportunity to enhance your wardrobe with great, new fashions.

To add to your new attire, why not embellish some of last season's fashions or sew some new things on your own? The Sewing Fashion Council offers tips to give your wardrobe new flair.

• Looking for a way to use up odd buttons? They can easily be added to decorate garments with buttonhole thread, dental floss or clear monofilament (fishing line).

• To prevent stretched out buttonholes in knit fabrics, use pinking shears to cut a small square of interfacing and fuse it behind each buttonhole. The pinked edge is less noticeable than a straight one.

• To protect delicate or shiny buttons from damage at the dry cleaner, cover them with a small square of aluminum foil before taking a garment to be cleaned.

• To create a more obvious guide for stitching seams, place a piece of masking tape on the • Skirt the Issue — Save this fall's long, slender skirts for a day in the office. When traveling or running around town, wear full skirts or skirts cut above the knee for ease of mobility.

• Fly in Comfort — Wear comfortable, well-fitting shoes when you fly and keep them on your feet! You'll be happy you did during those long flights when feet tend to swell.

• Make Sure the Shoe Fits — Have your feet measured twice a year to ensure maximum comfort and fit in footwear. As you grow older or experience a major shift in body weight, your arches can begin to flatten, making your feet wider and longer.

• Accessorize Wisely — Keep jewelry to a minimum and stay away from large pieces that can be distracting. Wear bracelets and rings on the opposite arm and hand with which you write.

• Pick the Right Pocket — At conventions and trade shows where you'll be meeting a lot of contacts, wear clothes with flat, square pockets to hold business cards.

• Dress Up — Dress “up” to the position/status to which you aspire. There's something to be said for the entry-level worker who dresses like the boss.

Make the transition into fall fashion with comfortable, timeless dressing

When Indian summer ends and the mercury drops, being prepared with a transitional fall wardrobe can alleviate the end-of-summer blues. Trading in T-shirts and shorts for sweaters, trousers and parkas can be less traumatic if you choose casually elegant fabrics and loosely tailored styling.

In addition, the rules of seasonal fashion are loosening, making transitional dressing much easier. Heavy cotton blends, lightweight silks and tweeds and supple leathers can be worn year-round and, if layered properly, can withstand seasonal lows.

For men, a richly woven cotton tweed and long-sleeve shirt can be layered over a thick, white T-shirt. When paired with comfortable, 10-percent cotton poplin pants, tailored for optimum comfort and fit, trading in your favorite summer shorts won't seem so bad after all.

For women, traditional cold-weather fabrics, like wool tweed and silk, are increasingly available in lighter blends. These hybrid fabrics are staples for a transitional fall wardrobe. A fall wardrobe essential, the basic wool skirt can be casually paired with a luxurious suede leather jacket.

What's hot for fall?

Trends and tips for your fall wardrobe shopping list

Getting in style for fall '96 means moving toward a more relaxed fashion “attitude” reminiscent of the '70s. Your fall wardrobe will surely make the grade if it's anchored with '70s staples, like tailored pantsuits, sweaters, rights, turtlenecks and, for diversity a new incarnation of the jumpsuit.

When shopping for fall, the best rule of thumb is to choose classic, wearable styles that will have longevity in your closet — which, of course, is always good news for your wallet.

Here are some key trends to keep in mind when contemplating your list of fall fashion “must-haves,” courtesy of NaVy by Cover Girl, the fragrance whose name was inspired by the ultimate, versatile fashion color, navy blue.

• The return of the pantsuit — If you can only add one item to your wardrobe this fall, make it a pantsuit. This year, pantsuit trousers are often cigarette-slim with jackets double-breasted. And, speaking of jackets, this year's are either hip-length or, in some cases, long enough to double as coats. Pantsuit fabrics range from soft camel's hair and tweeds to bold, tartan plaids with a definite “Braveheart” flavor.

• Tops that top the list — Turtlenecks are a pick-me-up for any wardrobe, any time of year. This fall, the snug-fitting, long-sleeved turtleneck will be one of the most versatile pieces in your closet. Other “top” choices include sweaters of all shapes and sizes: V-neck, funnel-neck or cardigan... solid or argyle... long or short... cashmere or cotton.

• Leg looks — Fall brings opaque, textured or patterned tights in all colors. Tights, a practical choice for the cool days of fall and winter, can be worn to coordinate or contrast with the skirt. For the more daring, there are tights with checks, plaids, stripes and argyles.

• A jumpsuit extravaganza — Dubbed the fashion wave of the future, the jumpsuit will appear in various guises: in technostretch fabrics, turtlenecked or collarless, with and without sleeves, and with matching jackets or coats. Some will be stylishly simple, while others are quilted, tweedy or for evening made of luxurious navy velvet.

• Take cover — If you've been waiting to buy a new coat, this season's great selection of styles may convince you that the time has come to splurge. Depending on your taste, you can choose one of the new, long military styles; comfy, loose frock coats; or a peacoat, that hallmark of the '70s that never goes out of style.

• Scent-sational accessory — Don't forget that classic fashion accessory: fragrance. Here are a few choices for less than $20: NaVy, a clean, fresh scent, and NaVy for Men, its classic masculine counterpart; Jaclyn Smith's California; and Toudjors Moi.

Overall, from “top” to “toe,” this fall certainly promises to bring many timeless styles that will carry you through the '90s.

"Be in step with Fashion & Style"

Updating your wardrobe while keeping the cost down

Maybe you can't buy a completely new wardrobe each season, but you can still achieve the newest look.

"Key items and accessories can do the trick," says Tina Sutton, national fashion consultant for the off-price women's fashion store Hit or Miss. She suggests updating your wardrobe with styles from these fall/winter '93 trends.

Fine and dandy
This fall, fashion goes back in time to romantic styles with an old-world charm.

The one piece you'll definitely want is a feminine white blouse with ruffled collar and cuffs. Use it to update last year's menswear suits or put it under a tapestry or brocade vest.

Then, turn your favorite long blazer into a fitted, dandy-style jacket with a decorative jacket clip. This adjustable accessory attaches to the back of the blazer and cinches in the waist for a more fitted look.

Also inexpensive are romantic button covers that look like old-fashioned cameos, adding a refined femininity to a plain white blouse. Or update a plain-waisted skirt with a drop-chain gold belt.

Pure and simple

Modern is the word for this fall's long, lean silhouette in a single rich color worn top-to-bottom.

First on your list of clothes to buy should be a column dress — a long, softly draped style that flatters the figure, some with adjustable lacing in the back. In rich jewel tones or dark neutrals, it goes easily from day into evening.

One-piece palazzo dresses and soft jumpsuits are also flattering and fashionable in neutral colors with minimal decorative detailing. Like the column dress, they drape close to the body without being tight, for an elegant yet comfortable appeal.

Homespun

When the weather gets cold, layers of textured cozy knits, soft woolsens and brushed denim will keep you toasty and warm.

The first thing you'll want is an over-sized sweater. Textured and soft, it's the piece you'll wear with everything from matching knit leggings to long, casual skirts. Choose from solid colors in a variety of bold stitches or Indian-blanket patterns in a rich outdoor palette.

Speaking of Indian prints, Navajo and Aztec patterns look fresh and fashionable this season. Felted fabrics and fringe add a cozy appeal to a Navajo warp skirt or jacket. Wear them with denim for weekend wear or paired with tailored sweaters for the office.

Snappy styles for fall hair fashion

What's an easy way to cure the hairstyle blues and keep on top of the hottest new styles this fall? Go layered!

According to professional hair stylists, styles will emphasize the layered look, with shorter, shaggier bangs and soft layers around the face.

"Layers can be spiked, fringed and texturized — hair should be either very short or very long," explains professional hairstylist Jacob Neal from the Jacob Neal Salon in Columbus, Ohio.

To achieve the new fall hair fashions, stylists will be taking a more individualized approach to cutting hair. Each person's bone structure, hair type and personality will be taken into consideration when forming layers.

"No two haircuts will be the same," Neal predicts. "Stylists will be using their creative license to make these cuts more personalized."

Once you've got your new layered cut, achieving the look at home is easy. The key is to focus on the right combination of tools and products.

For short layered cuts, use a spray gel or a soft hold gel on wet hair. Blow dry, using your fingers to lift the hair away from your scalp.

Then, for added volume, use heated styling clips. After you blow dry, place the clips on the front, top and crown of your head. Let the clips cool and remove them, then style with your fingers and finish with hair spray.

Longer layers are just as simple to maintain. First, apply a styling product — mousse for finer hair, gel for thicker hair — to the roots. Blow dry as usual. Then, for added versatility and drama, use a steam hairsetter. The steam setting helps give hair extra bend and holding power to keep your style fresh all day.

Beauty questions

Q. I don't feel "dressed" without lipstick, yet my lip color never stays put! Is there any way to make my lipstick last, so I don't have to constantly reapply?

A. Cover Girl model Rachel Hunter says that long-lasting lip color is easy when you follow these simple steps:

Step 1: Lightly stroke foundation over your lips to create a lasting base.

Step 2: Apply our favorite lip color over base. (Look for a lipstick that's designed to stay put.)

Step 3: Set color by blotting lips with a tissue. Then whisk loose powder over lips with a fluffy brush.

Step 4: Line your lips with a lip pencil that coordinates with your lip color.

Step 5: Reapply lipstick. The end result — fresh-looking lip color that has extra staying power.

Q. I've always wanted beautiful, smooth, glossy nails, but mine are so ridged and bumpy that no amount of nail polish makes them look good, and even salon manicures don't seem to help. Any suggestions?

A. Try the following technique: Gently buff nails (be sure to use a nail buffer — never use a file on the surface of your nails) to smooth out the deeper ridges and larger bumps. Apply a coat of basecoat. This product contains nylon fibers and special bonding thickeners to help create a smooth, even surface. Apply your favorite shade of polish and "viola" — beautiful nails.

Burning ban lifted in Bay with restrictions

Beginning Monday, Nov. 2, residents of Bay St. Louis may resume burning leaves, limbs and other plant related trimmings, according to Fire Chief Robert Gavagnie.

The accumulation to be burned may not exceed 6' in diameter of 4' in height. The chief reminds the public that a burn permit is required.

The permit is issued free of charge 8 a.m.-4 p.m. Monday-Saturday at the Fire House, 310

Old Spanish Trail.

The burning ban of building and construction debris is still in effect until further notice.

"Bay St. Louis residents have been most cooperative in following the burn ban throughout the city during the cleanup following Hurricane Georges. We appreciate their patience, but community safety was our first priority," said Mayor Eddie Favre.

Commissioner warns consumers of phone scam

Public Service Commissioner George Byars wants to warn consumers in South Mississippi to be on the lookout for a phone scam that is going around. The targets of the scam are telephone customers who receive both a BellSouth bill and a separate bill for long distance charges.

The long distance bill normally comes from AT&T, Sprint, MC/WorldCom, or another company who bills their long distance charges separately from BellSouth.

The scam goes as follows: Someone calls your number identifying themselves as "Combined Billing, Inc." The caller asks you if you would like all of your phone charges on one bill instead of receiving two separate bills.

If you answer "yes," your long distance carrier will be changed to a company who bills their charges on your BellSouth bill, thus giving you one phone bill with all the charges, and changing your long distance carrier.

This is what is known in the industry as "slamming," having your long distance provider changed without your consent

"Our investigators identified this problem over the weekend, and we wanted to warn the consumers and put them on alert," Commissioner Byars said.

Byars added, "The best thing that you can do when you receive unsolicited calls of this nature is to say 'No thank you' and hang up the phone."

Byars wants anyone who has had this happen to them or thinks that they may have been "slammed" to contact his office at 800-231-1257.

Character education

Ms. Sever and Ms. Kergosien's third grade class at Hancock North Central Elementary held a clean-up day outside their classroom buildings Saturday Oct. 24. The project was part of HNC's Character Education program designed to reinforce existing values and teach new ones such as responsibility, citizenship and respect. The students, parents and teachers were proud of their work, especially after receiving positive feedback from other students, parents and staff on Monday's return to school.

Congressman tours GCRL

Rep. Gene Taylor of Mississippi's Fifth District urged researchers to focus on creative solutions to coastal environmental problems in a visit to Gulf Coast Research Laboratory Oct. 22.

Taylor visited the campus at Director Jay Grimes' invitation for an update on research in progress at GCRL and other campuses of the University of Southern Mississippi's Institute of Marine Sciences.

Taylor recommended creating marshes at drainage outfalls and using dredge spoil as a resource for building marshes. He also emphasized the need for scientists to educate people in order to increase a constituency for environmental research.

"I encourage you to tell them why what you do is important to them and tell them in terms they can understand."

He called on scientists to "take the next step" and move research from new knowledge to useable information and technology.

The congressman toured research projects on artificial reefs, shrimp farming, aquaculture of striped bass for restocking efforts, and the effects of manmade compounds in the environment on reproduction in fish.

He also talked with researchers who have successfully raised newly hatched red snapper beyond 35 days old in captivity, only the third time the species has been successfully raised to that age in an aquaculture operation.

SBA disaster loans top $1.2 million for Mississippi disaster victims

Low-interest disaster loans through the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) Disaster Assistance Program have topped the $1.2 million mark for Mississippi homeowners, renters, landlords and business owners affected by Hurricane Georges, according to Don Waite, SBA's public information officer.

According to Waite, of that total Jackson County disaster victims have been approved for $767,300 followed by Harrison County with $379,600 in approved disaster loans. Most of the approvals have been for homeowners and renters. Business applications have been coming in at a slower pace so far.

SBA expects to see the loan approvals climb quickly as more people get their loan applications completed and turned in for consideration.

Those who need help completing an SBA application of have questions about the disaster loan program or want to turn in the completed application, can go to any of four locations open for that purpose.

SBA staff is located at the Charles L. Walker Community

Center, 4010 West Beach Blvd., Gulfport; the old Pascagoula High School (Science Annex),

Dupon Street, Pascagoula; and SBA's Disaster Field Office, Mississippi Coast Coliseum and Convention Center, 2350 Beach Blvd., in Biloxi.

These offices are open 8 a.m.-6 p.m. Monday through Saturday.

Application deadline is November 30, 1998.

Deadline nears for honoring seniors

Vitality. Creativity. Community involvement. Love of learning. New beginnings. If these words describe someone you know who is 65 or over, there is another label to put on them: Hero.

Nominations are due soon for the Mississippi Ageless Heroes program, an effort to recognize and honor the inspirational achievements of people 65 and over.

Some 20 people selected from around the state will be honored at a banquet in January, and a donation will be made to their favorite charities. Nominations are due Nov. 20.

"People are living longer, healthier lives than ever before. This program offers a way to honor someone you know and a way to promote them as role models for others," said Steve Walton, a spokesman for Blue Cross & Blue Shield of Mississippi, sponsor of Mississippi Ageless Heroes.

Nominees must be 65 or over and live in Mississippi. Nominations may be sent to: Mississippi Ageless Heroes, Blue Cross & Blue Shield of Mississippi, P.O. Box 1043, Jackson, MS 39215. More information is available at 1-800-222-1331.

Nominating someone is simple, and anyone may do it. The nomination form asks for a 100-word description of why the person is an Ageless Hero, along with the basic contact information for both the nominee and nominator: name, address (including county), phone, sex and age. A photo of the nominee is optional.

Each nominee should be placed in one of five categories. They are: Community involvement, commitment to the community and its members; creativity, unique expressions of talent; love of learning, pursuit of knowledge by study or experience; new beginning, initiation of new endeavors late in life; and vitality, demonstration of extraordinary physical or mental abilities.

Project PRINTS graduates celebrate their graduation along with family members and friends.

Center celebrates anniversary

The clients and staff of Project PRINTS of Hancock County celebrated the 20th anniversary of the South Mississippi Regional Center with an open house at the Bay St. Louis Center, 296 Hwy. 90, Suite 14, Monday, Oct. 26.

Project PRINTS, an acronym for Partnerships for Responsive Intervention Newborn to School, works with children birth to three who are diagnosed with a developmental disability.

Students graduate when they transition from the early intervention program to their local school system or Head Start Center.

Administered by the Department of Mental Health, the program provides a wide range of services to infants and children who are experiencing delays and to their families. The goal is to minimize these delays and increase the potential for future development.

Services through Project PRINTS are provided by 17 staff persons including certified special education teachers, paraprofessional teaching assistants, speech pathologists, parent educators and a social worker.

Occupational and physical therapy may be provided on an as-needed basis. Services through Project PRINTS are free of charge and referrals are confidential.

Project PRINTS service sites are located in Bay St. Louis, Piquette, Long Beach, Biloxi, Keesler Air Force Base and Gautier.

The administration office of Project PRINTS at 867-1434 will provide information to parents interested in learning about the early intervention program.

Children enrolled in the program may exhibit delays in physical skills, speech and language abilities, educational developments, or a combination of these areas.

Admission into the program requires a current medical examination and identification of a developmental disability. An individualized educational plan is then developed for each child based on his or her needs and the needs of the family.

Research has shown that reaching children at an early age can have positive results in the child's home and in future school settings. The Project PRINTS staff works hand-in-hand with school districts to insure all children are prepared for school and that each child is prepared to achieve his or her potential.

For information locally, contact the offices of Project PRINTS of Hancock County, 295 Hwy. 90, Suite 14, at 228-466-0926.

Accidents continue

There was another accident last Saturday at the busy intersection of Hwy. 90 and Dunbar, this time on the south side of the highway. Three persons were injured when a westbound 1992 Ford turned from the service road on the south side of the highway and collided with a pickup truck crossing the highway southbound. There has been a concerted effort to add directional turning signals to the signal lights there, but the Mississippi Department of Transportation makes that decision (Echo staff photo by Ed Lepoma).

Wal-Mart celebrates anniversary

Wal-Mart in Waveland is celebrating its 10-year anniversary Friday, Oct. 30 with a ceremony at 9 a.m.

A puppet show is scheduled at 10 a.m. in the infant department.

There will also be a contest for the customer with the oldest receipt from the Waveland Wal-Mart. The receipt can be verified in the Electronic Department on Friday. The winner will be announced at 4 p.m. and will receive a $25 gift certificate.

All customers can register in each department for drawings to be held at the end of the day.

BUSINESS NEWS

Jobless rate dips to 5.1%

The state unemployment rate dipped to 5.1 percent in September primarily because of the return of workers to school-related jobs, the Mississippi Employment Security Commission (MESC) announced.

More than 6,000 school-related jobs were gained during the month, the bulk of which were work-study students in state senior and junior colleges, said MESC State Labor Market Analyst Bill McNeece.

The number also included cafeteria workers, school bus drivers and school maintenance workers.

Teachers are excluded from the number as they generally work on a 12-month basis.

Job gains in September were also posted in the manufacturing sector and in agriculture.

Lafayette County has the lowest unemployment rate in the state during September with a remarkable 1.4 percent rate. Placing second and third were Rankin County with a rate of 2.3 percent of Oktibbeha County with a 2.4 percent rate.

Five counties recorded double-digit rates. They are Nodaway County at 10.5 percent, Sunflower County at 11.1 percent, Simpson County at 11.9 percent, Claiborne County at 12.7 percent and Jefferson County at 14.1 percent, the state's highest rate.

The national unemployment rate for September stood at 4.4 percent. The August state rate was 5.6 percent.

McNeece said he expects the October rate to remain at or near the September rate. He said, however, that the unemployment associated with Hurricane Georges might have an affect on the rate.

Bank offers teachers interest-free loans

Whitney National Bank has partnered with the National Board of Professional Teaching Standards (NBPTS) in their Certification Program to promote the enhancement of teacher skills.

In doing so, the Whitney has made available approximately $60,000 in individual loans to teachers so that they can go through the intense course over a one-year period.

"We are very pleased that Whitney Bank is actively supporting quality education in our community," said Dr. Tom Burnham with the Gulf Coast Education Initiative. "By offering this unique program to teachers, the Whitney is stepping up to the plate to help make our education system the best it can be."

Whitney is the only lending institution participating in the program.

The bank worked with the Gulf Coast Education Initiative to provide the interest-free loans in the amount of $2,000 each to participating teachers from the Mississippi Gulf Coast area.

SBA designates disaster area

Federal disaster loans are now available from the U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) for small non-farm agricultural-dependent businesses located in Adams, Amite, Claiborne, Hancock, Issaquena, Jefferson, Marion, Pearl River, Pike, Walthall, Warren and Wilkinson counties which were economically impacted due to losses caused by devastating drought conditions that occurred from March 15 through July 23, 1998, and continuing, according to SBA regional administrator, Billy Max Paul.

Paul said these counties are eligible because they are contiguous to one or more primary counties declared in the State of Louisiana. SBA recognizes that disasters don't usually stop at county or state lines. For that reason, counties adjacent to primary counties named in the declaration are included.

This disaster designation was issued as a result of similar action taken by the Secretary of Agriculture to help farmers in those counties. Farmers are not eligible to apply to SBA, but nurseries are eligible for economic injury caused by drought disasters.

Economic Injury Disaster Loans (EIDLs) provide working capital to small businesses so they can pay bills and meet normal operation expenses. Maximum loans to a business of up to $1.5 million are available at 4 percent interest with loan terms of up to 30 years. SBA determines eligibility for the program based on the size and type of business and its financial resources.

Paul advised that loan applications and program information are available by calling 1-800-359-2277. The Telecommunications Device for the Deaf (TDD) and speech impaired number is (404) 347-3751.

These telephones are answered weekdays 7 a.m.-6 p.m. Applications are also available by writing: Area 2 Disaster Assistance Office, U.S. Small Business Administration, One Baltimore Place, Suite 300, Atlanta, GA 30308.

The Economic Injury Loan application filing deadline is April 6, 1999.

rating, citing both as factors considered by businesses.

Mason predicted that the continued expansion of the Garfield Ladner Pier will generate traffic for and attract businesses to Coleman Avenue.

Richter said there needs to be increased economic development to let big businesses know about the city. In addition to more involvement with organizations, such as the Chamber of Commerce and the Hancock County Tourism Development Bureau, Richter said the city needs a good advertising campaign.

Included in her plan for Coleman Avenue were sidewalks, more parking, the planting of trees and signs on Highway 90 directing visitors to the area.

Longo said commercial development should begin with creating a business friendly environment. He said the extension of sewer lines on the north side of Highway 90 would enable future development.

Longo also suggested the city explore casino revenue sharing possibilities, because although the city has no casino, it bears part of the burden on its infrastructure.

He acknowledged plans previously submitted for the development of Coleman Avenue and displayed his own plan. The important thing, he said, was getting to work on the revitalization.

In answering a question regarding transfers from the city's utility fund into the general fund, Mason reported that during his administration the city had reduced transfers while increasing cash reserves.

Richter said the 1998-99 budget included transfers of $520,000 including a $130,000 administrative fee, all used to offset overspending in the general fund. She said the city must calculate expected income and expense within that amount.

Longo told listeners it is important to allocate funds properly. He said along with predicted increased sales tax revenue, if certain infrastructure improvements were properly allocated to the utility fund rather than to the general fund, the transfers would be decreased.

Mason disagreed with Longo's prediction of increased sales tax revenue, saying the state legislature would never let that happen.

In rebuttal, both Richter and Longo pointed out that sales tax revenue can, in fact, increase. Longo explained the state would certainly be in favor of the increase since it would in turn increase state coffers.

The candidates for Board of Aldermen were each asked two questions, one concerning allocation of the remaining funds from the city's $1.25 million bond issue and one concerning the most pressing problem in their wards.

Ward 1 candidates Jay Fountain, Democrat, Nikki Tingsstrom, Democrat, Frank Perniciaro, Republican, and Rhonda Aime-Grant, Republican, all cited drainage as one of the major concerns in the ward they would like to see addressed (Candidate Milton Bernard, Democrat, was not present due to an employment conflict).

Ward 2 candidates Ricky Geoffrey, Democrat, and Peter Gondrella, Jr., Republican, said the bond money should be spent on drainage improvements (Candidate and incumbent Jay Fleuret, Republican, was not present due to a previous commitment).

In Ward 3, incumbent Louie Smolensky, Democrat, named sewerage a major concern saying it was time Ward 3 be looked into.

Ward 3 candidate Ralph "Batman" West, Democrat, said the people of the ward know the problems and he would be there to help them.

Drainage was also a priority in Ward 4. Candidates Charles Piazza, Democrat, Santo Saucier, Democrat, and Ross Burke, Republican, all stressed drainage as a problem needing to be addressed.

Ward 4 candidate Bill Cross, Republican, said the problem was that there was not already a plan in effect for spending the bond money.

Audience questions touched on several subjects, including beachfront development and what to do with the old Waveland School/Civic Center on Coleman Avenue.

While there were several ideas for what could be done with the school, beachfront development was overwhelmingly rejected.

One of the problems cited in what to do with the school was how to afford renovation, including the removal of asbestos.

The Republican and Democratic primaries are scheduled for Tuesday, Nov. 3. The general election will be held on December 1.

Honorary member

Dr. Thomas O. Logue, Jr., FACHE, right, of Ridgeland, was awarded honorary membership in the Mississippi Hospital Association (MHA) by MHA's House of Delegates during the association's 67th Annual Leadership Conference recently. "Each year, the MHA Board of Governors has the opportunity to nominate no more than two individuals for honorary membership in our association," said Melvin Walker, left, HMA Board of Governors chairman. "Nominees must have made some outstanding contribution to the health care industry and have made a significant impact on the hospital field. These two individuals certainly fit that category." Logue, a native of Vicksburg, has served as MHA's chairman of the Board of governors, been active in MHA area councils and served on numerous committees for MHA and related health care organizations. He has held numerous positions in health care administration in Mississippi, Georgia, Kentucky and Florida. In Mississippi, he served in Charleston, Bay St. Louis, McComb and Jackson. He is currently a member of the MHA Quarter Century Executive Forum and a lifetime Fellow in the American College of Healthcare Executives.

District chair asks to resign position

BY ED LEPOMA

Citing a heavy work load, Bill Johnson has asked to resign as chairman of Hancock County's Water and Sewer District. He plans to stay on as a commissioner through the January, 1999 meeting.

Johnson sent a letter Oct. 21 to the Board of Supervisors asking to resign his position and announced his decision to the district at a recess meeting Monday.

Johnson had been serving as chairman for about a year, and he was re-elected chairman for another year-long term last September.

In the letter to supervisors, Johnson said, "While I am very appreciative of my fellow board members' re-affirming their confidence in me, I regretfully felt compelled to tender my resignation."

"As most of you know, I am working long days and even weekends at my place of employment. It is very important for me to do the best I possibly can in whatever I endeavor in life. At this point in time, I feel the need to cut back on obligated time."

Johnson, who is a consultant with Compton Engineering and involved in other ongoing county projects, such as the new marina taking shape off Lakeshore Road, told the Echo that the role of chairman of the district was taking up more and more of his time.

Besides one and sometimes two monthly meetings, workshops and bid conferences, he sometimes fields 10 calls a day from residents inquiring about ongoing and future sewer and water projects, he said.

With major extensions of the sewerage system now underway in Shoreline Park and about to get underway in Clermont Harbor, Johnson said, "I am very proud of the many positive accomplishments that both our boards have achieved in providing sewer services to our county, and will reflect on them for years to come."

Boeing

"This is a good anchor tenant. They will create good, high-tech jobs," said Gouguet.

Gouguet said the Army Ammo Plant is nearing its potential. When it closed, there were about 1,700 people on site, Gouguet said. "We now have 800 people employed by various industry out here, and by the middle of next year we think the force will exceed 1,000 on site," he said. He was praiseworthy of the support provided by Sen. Trent Lott. "He has been very supportive," said Gouguet of the Senate Majority leader. "He's a powerful man to have on your side."

The agreement with Boeing was signed on the same day that the Air Force announced that Boeing had been awarded 19 of 28 launches under the new evolved expendable launch program in a relationship worth almost $1.9 million.

It is the first long-term commitment NASA has made that provides its rocket engine test facilities at Stennis be used for commercial purposes.

Under the plan, Boeing personnel will assemble and test the RS-68 engine at Stennis before shipping it to a new Boeing facility at Decatur, Ala., where the Delta 4 rockets will be assembled.

Boeing's Rocketdyne Propulsion and Power Segment in Canoga Park, Calif., is developing the RS-68. It will be the first large liquid-fueled rocket engine that has been developed in the United States in a generation, and is a key element in the development of the Boeing Delta IV family of launch vehicles that will be used to launch commercial and government satellites.

According to Boeing, besides creating technical and manufacturing jobs, the new agreement will keep the space center's test stands busy for another 20 to 25 years.

SCC Executive Director Roy Estess said, "Rocketdyne has been at Stennis as a contractor for the entire 30-year history of the center. Now they are bringing the Boeing/Rocketdyne commercial venture to Stennis, and in this regard they will be our (NASA's) customer. I think it's great."

Hal Walter, executive director of Hancock County's Port and Harbor Commission, said Boeing's decision will attract other aerospace-related industry into the area.

"As the economic development authority for the county, we're excited about Boeing's decision to manufacture, assemble and test the RS-68 engine at Stennis," said Walters.

"These are the kind of jobs that we have been focusing our efforts towards securing for Hancock County. I believe other similar aerospace-related projects will follow, thereby raising the quality of life for the citizens of Hancock County."

Amy Gregory, executive director of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, said the new venture would be a shot in the arm to the local economy.

"This is wonderful news for our growing community," said Gregory. "It will be a boost to our local economy, in particular to our business community."

Jim Taylor, NASA's RS-68 project manager at Stennis, said the agreement was a vote of confidence in the expertise that is available at Stennis.

Arrest

The first spot hit was the EZ Serve gas station and convenience store located at 201 Hwy. 90, near the Bay St. Louis bridge, about 10:27 p.m. Saturday.

Bay Detectives Kevin Fayard and Mary Trudell arrived on the scene, and the female cashier told the detectives that a lone, white male, who was unmasked, walked up to the counter with a note.

Detectives said the note stated: "I have a gun in my jacket. Kindly, give me the money in the drawer."

The cashier turned over the money, and told detectives the man fled the scene in a truck.

Less than two hours later, a cashier at the Exxon/Subway outlet at the corner of Hwy. 90 and 603 called the Hancock County Sheriff's Department at 12:35 p.m. to report a holdup there.

Investigating detective Ken Hurt and the outlet's owner, Jim Quakenbush, are giving glowing praise to cashier Julie Morris.

"She had a detailed description of the robber, the vehicle he fled in, the tag number and the direction he was headed," said Hurt.

Quakenbush said surveillance cameras were also working in the Exxon station, and, "It was the third time our surveillance system has aided in the apprehension of someone." He also praised Morris for keeping a cool head, and for providing detailed information to investigating officers.

Hurt also had high praise for the cooperation shown by several law enforcement agencies that participated in a search for the suspect.

Besides Bay Police and Hancock County deputies, Hurt said the Mississippi Highway Patrol and Pass Christian and Long Beach police participated in the chase.

Hurt said the suspect abandoned his tan Ford Explorer near WBSL radio station on Casino Magic Drive, then escaped into the woods, apparently returning to the nearby Blue Meadow Apartments.

Law enforcement officials, aided by the canine corps, abandoned the search for the suspect about 5:35 p.m., Hurt said, but in the meantime, the identity of the suspect and his residence was traced from the car tag.

Hurt said Robert Allen Roy, 24, called the Bay Police about 6 a.m. to turn himself in and confessed to both heists. He was booked on a robbery charge by Bay police, and his bail was set at $10,000 on that charge. Later, Roy was also booked with another count of robbery, and another $10,000 bond was set. He was transferred to the county jail.

Hurt said Roy apparently was out on probation since last April. He had five prior arrests on charges ranging from simple burglary to possession of narcotics.

Hurt said no gun was found in a search of the vehicle or the apartment, but the investigation is continuing.

Tour

Each year the event involves a number of volunteers to put on the Halloween season pageant. "We have ten characters who dress in costume to portray our cemetery residents," said Karen Flores, director of the Kate Labrano House, which houses the Historical Society's offices.

The traditional roster of the deceased includes Lorene Poillion, a five-year-old whose death was related to the overconsumption of green apples; Powhattan Robertson, a native American who married a local man; Ginger Burke Paradise, a gypsy whose exact grave location is yet undetermined; the late Charles Breathe, a banker who died on fateful Halloween, and the irresponsible Kate Labrano whose family donated the Cue Street home that houses the historical society.

The one dollar donation will take visitors through the historical cemetery and to refreshments at the Kate Labrano House, across from the cemetery at 108 Cue Street, and will additionally be used in the restorations and rehabilitations at the cemetery.

"The Historical Society's Board of Directors started the cemetery tour six years ago to accomplish three main things," said Charles Gray president of the historical society. "We wanted to stop vandalism. We wanted to focus attention on the historic aspects of Cedar Rest and we needed a fundraiser. The tour has accomplished all three."

telling council of their experience in the field of sewer line rehabilitation, and to sign on as the firm handling the project. Council President Tad Black had asked for such a review meeting, despite recommendations from the mayor and top staffers of the Public Works Department.

Black expressed concern about how much time it's taken to get other sewer repair and upgrade projects off the ground. And he questioned the Compton firm on the number of employees it has, the number of professional registered engineers, and who specifically would be overseeing the rehabilitation project.

David Compton said he personally would be in charge of the project, and would be in Bay St. Louis to oversee it. The firm, he said, will have a total of five professional engineers by the time this project starts, and a total of 17 employees split in offices here and in Ascagoula.

The Compton firm has been working with the city's sewer rehabilitation needs since 1994, when the city called for smoke testing of the entire system. Based on those findings, the city then paid some $100,000 to have video pictures taken in all of the lines.

City staffers said the work is estimated at about $1.02 million, covering one-third of what needs to be done to bring the system up to par. Public Works officials said most of the remaining leaks and problem areas could be repaired by city work crews.

Officials said they aren't yet sure what will be done with one major sewer trouble spot: Ballentine Street's line. Black noted that line carries about two thirds of the city's sewage, and has suffered multiple cave-ins.

Public Works Director Ron Vanney said the line is very old, very deep, and unstable. "The whole ... thing is liable to fall apart" when work begins to repair it. A lot of study and thought has to be given to how to address the problem, he said. The line is more than 20 feet underground, officials said.

Woody Stieffel, Vannney's assistant, said the line at issue runs some 1,200 feet along Ballentine, an old concrete pipe that "just falls apart" when disturbed. "What we have now is little better than eggshell pipe," Stieffel said.

Mayor Eddie Favre said officials may decide to bypass the old line altogether, laying new sewer line to resolve the problem.

Meanwhile, officials are still working on a project to replace a failing sewer lift station. Problems with that facility have left residents of Romenada Street to battle with sewage overflows.

Officials said they have been working to design a route for a new force main from the lift station to the Waveland sewage treatment plant, increasing the city system's capacity.

Black said the upgrade comes none too soon. "The people I represent are on the end of the line. Romenada residents have been suffering from sewage overflow into their yards. We've been telling these people for years we're working on it," Black complained.

And he noted, a new subdivision has been approved in the area, creating more stress on the old system. "I voted to approve the subdivision ... with the forethought we would have this lift station on line."

Council was told those new facilities should be up for bids in 60 to 90 days.

Gregory said awarding of the grant funds to Hancock County local chamber "also speaks volumes about the strength already apparent in our local chamber."

The Mississippi grants are part of BellSouth's nine-state program recognizing chambers for small business development. This was the second year of competition, and the Chamber Grant Program received 198 proposals from chambers throughout the Southeast and 32 from Mississippi, according to BellSouth Regional Director Rick Stewart.

Mississippi's first place winner was the East Mississippi Business Development Corporation in Meridian. It won for a classified advertisement in "The Real Yellow Pages," and will receive a $10,000 grant and one year of cellular service from BellSouth Mobility that will include use of products and 100 free minutes per month.

The Jones County Chamber of Commerce received a $7,000 grant for its proposal titled, "Driving the Small Business T.R.U.C.K." The grant will be used to train small businesses on use of the Internet.

Contract

According to District Administrator Pam Gauthreaux, the work will get underway by mid-November, and the contractor has 240 days to complete the project.

The letting of the contract coincides with another major project already underway that will add 520 more residents of Shoreline Park east of Hwy. 603 to sewer lines. That work is being performed by Colom Construction Co. of Ripley, and Gauthreaux estimates 50 percent of the lines have been laid and about 80 grinders installed at residences.

Before the work gets underway in Clermont Harbor, Gauthreaux is asking residents and business owners who haven't already contacted the district, to call the office at 467-6208. The office needs to know where you plan to locate the sewer taps in front of the property, and can furnish you with instructions on how to connect to the sewer line.

The areas to be sewered in Clermont Harbor include First, Second, Third, Fourth, Bordages, Deleisseline, Guignard, Herron, Ioor, Long and Oak streets, Clermont Boulevard, Evelyn Place, Lake Drive and Forest, portions of South and North Railroad and Pointset avenues.

In other business at its recess meeting, the District voted to postpone until Nov. 12 the opening of bids for construction of new administrative offices, which will be located off Longfellow Drive in the rear of the Human Resources Building.

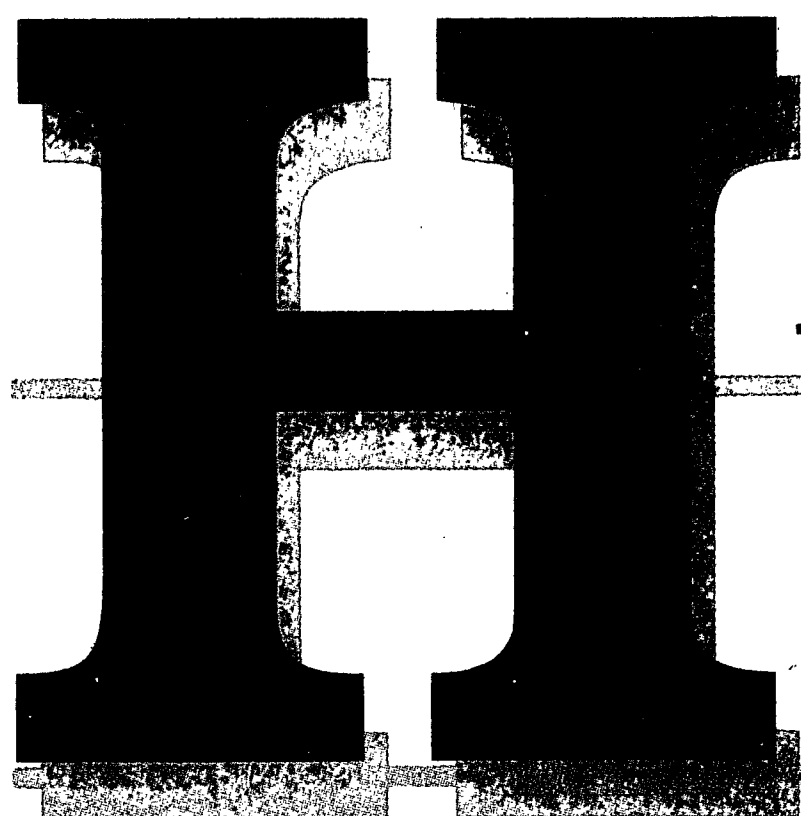

A number of residents of Shoreline Park, who now have campers out there, came to the meeting to ask if they can be hooked up to the sewerage system. They were not included in the census because campers are considered temporary housing.

Gauthreaux said she needed to get clarification from the Rural Development Administration, which is funding the sewerage project.

The campers said they can't get a permit to build a permanent residence unless they can hook up to sewerage.

Artist sees celebration as perfect backdrop

BY B. R. HAWKINS

Kevin Webster's father says, "Don't blame me." However, Kevin credits him with planting the initial seeds for his striking monster art. His dad brought him a Famous Monsters from Film Land magazine and after that it was Dark Shadows, Barnabus and the visual inspiration that all of Halloween brings as a perfect backdrop for this artist/illustrator's creations.

Kevin approaches his art in the manner of most illustrators today. His professional work is heavily dependent on computer generated elements. "Our animation company, Maximillion Zillion Animation, utilizes computers heavily. I'll draw a story board for the development of an idea then we turn to the computer."

Developing his monster art, he said, is pretty much the same process. He gets more subtle lines by drawing originally by hand and then, he will generate the harder more contrasting line drafts on computer before finalizing the designs and projecting them onto his large cardboard or wooden canvases.

Webster and his family have recently moved to Bay St. Louis from Memphis, Tenn., where his wife Sherrye, is president of Sherrye Advertising and Public Relations, Inc. Her plans are to open a satellite office here in the Bay along with a gallery in the old Mary Carter Paint Store on Third Street that they have purchased near the Depot.

"I have been known to be impulsive when it comes to ideas and shopping but never real estate," Sherrye Webster said in recounting how she and Kevin came to Bay St. Louis. "When we visited here six years ago, I wouldn't leave until we bought something."

The Websters, with their 8-year old son, Max, now have a home on St. Charles where Kevin has prepared his a smaller version of his traditional Halloween display of monster art in his yard.

"It has been a tradition with us for about seven years," Webster said. "Each year we have a Halloween gathering of clients and friends. And, each year we add some new monster to the collection."

Last year's theme was Frank and Elvis with a Rock 'n Roll Graveyard. The display, in one, two and three dimensional standards, was lighted and portions animated. "We have run the gambit of themes," Webster said. "And I start on next year's display the day after Halloween. This year we are a little small, but next year we will back to the full blown version."

Max, a student at Coast Episcopal, has found himself his own niche to contribute to his family's Halloween celebrations. He will present a recitation of Edgar Allan Poe's The Raven at Bookends Bookstore, Hwy 90, on Saturday, Oct. 31 at 11 a.m.

Max's recitation is complete with costume and animated props designed and produced by, whom else, his dad.

While Max said he doesn't yet have the same artistic touch as his dad, the creative is strong in him. He loves to write and has written a series of stories in which his dog, Barnabus (from Dark Shadows, no less) is a primary character.

His interest in poetry and performance feel natural to him and he said he hasn't really ever been nervous about doing it. "I like it," he said.

The Websters issue an invitation for folks to come by and see their yard art and monster display at 121 St. Charles Street.

Kevin Webster's monster art was a Halloween tradition in Memphis, Tenn. He and his family have recently moved to Bay St. Louis and have begun a new tradition at their home at 121 St. Charles Street. Above, the three-dimensional character flies on the porch of their Memphis home. Left, Kevin, his wife, Sherrye and their son, Max, set up a portion of the display at their Bay St. Louis home. Bottom, the fantasy skeleton was a favorite for the Halloween trick-or-treaters in Memphis.

The celebration begins at 7 p.m., Lee said, and he has prepared a haunted house or entertainment. There'll also be free hay rides.

Lee said park commissioners will also be on hand to handout treats to youngsters, and the entire event is free.

McLeod Park is located on Texas Flat Road, off Hwy. 603. For more information, call 467-1894.

Halloween History Notes:

The Halloween Masquerade

From earliest times people wore masks when droughts or other disasters struck. They believed that the demons who had brought their misfortune upon them would become frightened off by the hideous masks. Even after the festival of Samhain had merged with Halloween, Europeans felt uneasy at this time of the year. Food was stored in preparation for the winter and the house was snug and warm. The cold, envious ghosts were outside, and people who went out after dark often wore masks to keep from being recognized.

Until very recently, children would dress up as ghosts and goblins to scare the neighbors, but there was no trick or treating. Around 40 years ago, people began to offer treats to their costumed visitors. In parts of England, the poor once went to houses singing and begging for soul cakes or money. Spanish people put cakes and nuts on graves on Halloween, to bribe the evil spirits.

Pass Pirates lose to East Marion

BY B. R. HAWKINS

The Pass Christian Pirates lost to the East Marion Eagles 20 to 12 Friday night, Oct. 23, in a game that was tougher in the trenches than indicated on the scoreboard.

Pass picked up 13 first downs and gained 172 yards rushing. Junior wide receiver, Robert Isabelle carried the ball 15 time for a hard earned 80 yards. Senior tight end, Eran Landry carried three times for 78 yards and one touch down. Junior running back, Rashad Bowser picked up 54 yards on 14 carries.

Quarterbacks Jack Wilson and Calvin Woods together picked up 119 yards in the air. Wilson was four for 11 for 107 yards and Woods was one for one for 12 yards.

"We made mistakes tonight," head coach Gavin Lott said, "When we executed we executed well. We just couldn't keep our heads in the ball game."

The Pirates' first series of downs was short lived ending in a fumble.

East Marion picked up three first downs moving the ball from the Pirates' 32-yard line to end zone. The Eagles failed to get the extra point.

The Pirates, taking the ball on the 42-yard line, were unable to gain sufficient ground for a first down gave the ball up on the Eagles 20-yard line.

Pass defense held to Eagles, giving their offense the ball on their own 35. Quarterback Jack Wilson gathered his wits and drove the ball to the Eagles 17 before stalling, short of the end zone.

However, the Pirates momentum didn't end with he drive. The defense held the Eagle at the line of scrimmage for two plays and allowed East Marion to gain only two yard during their series.

Pass Christian took the ball over on their 42-yard line. Jack Wilson lifted a pass to Eran Landry who ran for 58 yards and a touch down. Bard Dewitt's point after failed and the ball game was tied six all.

With 7:03 left in the half, the Eagles took the ball on their own 15-yard line. Unable to pick up a first down, East Marion punted away.

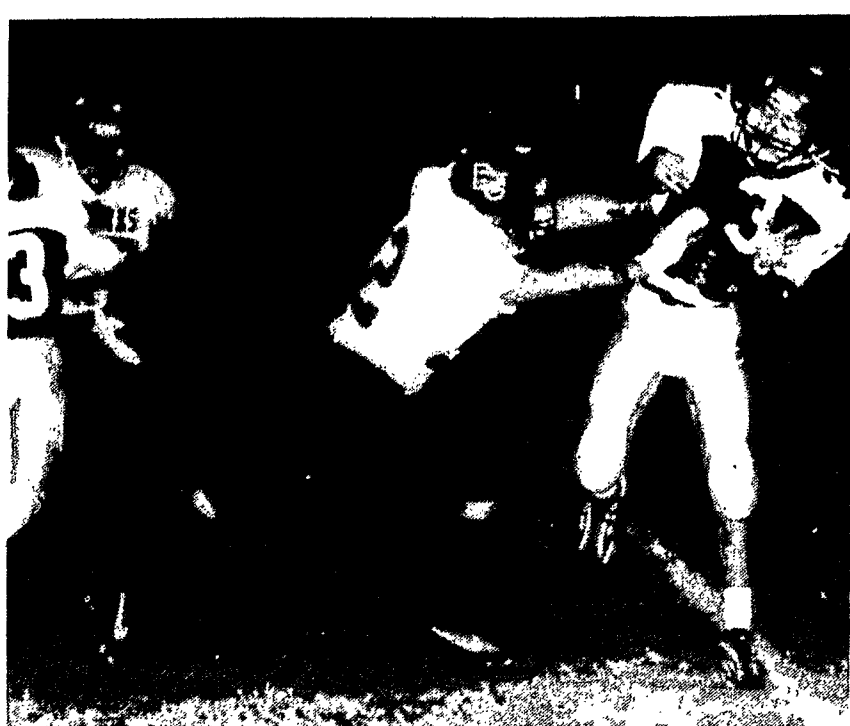

Jeffery May took the punt back to the 42. Wilson immediately handed off to Rashad Bowser who picked up 10 yard for the first down. The Pirates eked out another eight yards in the series and gambled on fourth and two. Eagles defense held the line and the Pirates were forced to give to ball up on downs.

Eagle quarterback Sha'ron Chisolm hustled to get his plays in before the half ended. With less than three minutes left in the half, Chisolm was able to pick up three first downs before stalling on the Pirates' 41-yard line. Chisolm attempted three straight pass plays. The Pirates' defense kept tight coverage and denied the Eagles any ground. On fourth and ten, Eagle line-backer Romero Ali scooped up a fumble from his quarterback and ran the ball into the end zone for what appeared to be another East Marion score. However, a clipping penalty brought the ball back and the Pirates took over on downs as the half ended.

As if not to be intimidated, the Eagles took the second half kickoff to the 45. Chisolm, behind good pass protection, finally reached sophomore Austin Abram for a touchdown.

The extra point was good. The Eagles led 13 to 6.

Pass Christian kept the ball for ten plays, picking up four first downs and gaining 45 yards to the Eagles five-yard line. The drive ended on a fumbled pitch out.

Proving that turnovers are contagious, East Marion took the ball at their 11-yard line. Pirates Jeffery May stepped into the passing lane and stole the ball for an interception at the eagles 30.

Wilson used Robert Isabelle to drive the ball back to the four-yard line. On a straight hand-off up the middle, Isabelle stepped into the end zone bringing his team within two points of a lead. Brad Dewitt's extra point attempt was blocked. The Pirates trailed by one -- 13 to 12 with 4:52 remaining in the third quarter.

Dewitt's kickoff sailed to the Eagles' 24-yard line. East Marion mounted their most dominating series of plays. Moving 66 yards in 15-plays for a touchdown. The Eagles punched in the extra point and led, ultimately to win. 20 to 12.

Pass Christian plays at Purvis Friday night.

Cruiserweight title fight set at the Biloxi Grand Theatre

Grand Casino Biloxi, in association with promoter Murad Muhammad/M&M Sports, will host world championship boxing Friday, Oct. 30 at the Biloxi Grand Theatre. Doors open at 6 p.m. with the first bout scheduled at 7 p.m.

The main event will pit world champion Imamu Mayfield against challenger "King" Arthur Williams in a 12-round IBF cruiserweight world title championship fight.

Imamu Mayfield (18-1, 14 KO's), a 26-year-old hailing from Freehold, N.J., will make his second defense of the world title against the #1 ranked mandatory challenger, "King" Arthur Williams (28-4-1, 20 KO's) of Pensacola, Fla.

"King" Arthur Williams has been called the "uncrowned champion" and is a member of the Roy Jones Jr. stable of fighters from Pensacola.

The co-feature should be a sensational 10-round welterweight bout between southpaw Sugar Ray Collins (18-9-1, 4 KO's) vs. Lavell Finger (21-0-0, 13 KO's). In 1998, Collins, hailing from Bay City, Mich., defeated the previously undefeated Brandon Mitchum.

The OLA 400 yard freestyle team of Kennedy, Veach, Phares, and Rutherford placed 18th out of 25 teams with a time of 5:08.19.

Head coach Joe Gex commented, "I thought all the swimmers swam excellent races. The girls did exceptionally well against some very tough competition. The Biloxi girls won the state title for an unprecedented fourth year in a row. They have an awesome team; however, our girls hung in there and bettered their times. That is the name of the game when you compete against a clock."

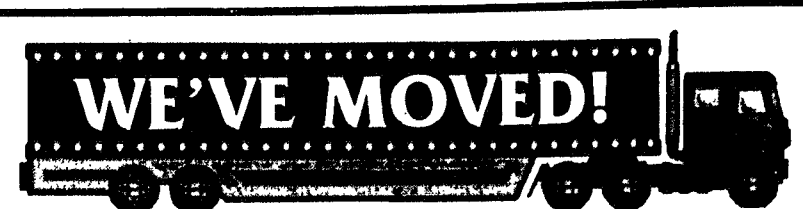

"On the boys side, I was very pleased with our outcome today. We placed seventh and that is about where I placed us going in. The northern teams are always very talented and usually dominate. But I was very pleased with my swimmers. They showed themselves to be full of character, pride, and integrity."

Shrimp towing times scheduled by DMR

The National Marine Fisheries has authorized the Department of Marine Resources to use limited tow times by shrimp trawlers in inshore waters in Mississippi as an alternative to the requirement to use Turtle Excluder Devices (TEDs).

Through Oct. 31, 1998, a shrimp trawler utilizing this authorization must limit tow times to no more than 55 minutes, measured from the time trawl doors enter the water until they are retrieved from the water.

From Nov. 1, 1998 through midnight on Nov. 21, tow times must be limited to no more than 75 minutes.

Wendy's High School Heisman seeks newest family members

Our Lady Academy senior Leshe Esher of Waveland, Hancock High School senior Mark Hall of Bay St. Louis and Hancock High School senior Jessica Pucheu of Bay St. Louis are poised at the starting line of a race they hope will end with induction into the prestigious Heisman family.

The students were among 11,000 of the most accomplished high school students nominated for the Wendy's High School Heisman Award.

The Wendy's High School Heisman program was created in 1994 when Wendy's Old Fashioned Hamburgers Restaurants teamed up with the Downtown Athletic Club, home to the prestigious college Heisman Trophy since 1935, and the National Association of Secondary School Principals (NASSP), the nation's largest school leadership organization, to honor the top scholar-citizen-athletes at the high school level.

The coalition shares a commitment to the recognition and development of those students who pursue and achieve excellence in academics, community involvement and athletics.

"These students embody dedication and character; their accomplishments are amazing," said Dave Thomas, Wendy's founder and spokesperson. "We are proud to recognize these deserving young people."

"The nominated students set the standard for excellence in their schools," says Dr. Thomas Koerner, NASSP executive director. "They exemplify what all students should strive to achieve."

A call for nominations was issued last spring when principals at more than 23,000 high schools were invited to nominate one male and one female scholar-citizen-athlete who best exemplified the program's attributes.

To be eligible, students completing their junior year in high school must achieve at least a B+ grade point average, participation in one of 31 sports officially sanctioned by the National Federation of State High School Associations and active involvement in community service.

Entries will be evaluated by the educational testing service CTB/McGraw-Hill to narrow the field to 1,020 State Award finalists. Then 102 State Award winners, including the District of Columbia, will be announced.

The 12 finalists will be invited to New York City Dec. 10-13 to participate in the Heisman Trophy Weekend festivities in the Downtown Athletic Club. One male and one female will be selected as the national winners and honored during the Heisman Memorial Trophy national telecast Saturday, Dec. 12 on ESPN.

The awards presentation will be made by Thomas, Koerner and program spokesperson Archie Griffin, the only two-time Heisman Memorial Trophy winner and current associate athletic director for the Ohio State University.

Area's best students recognize best teachers in Who's Who Teachers from Bay St. Louis and Waveland are among a select group of American teachers being honored by their toughest critics — their former students — in the fifth edition of Who's Who Among America's Teacher 1998.

Teachers from Bay St. Louis named in the publication include Marie Powers Bartels, John B. Switzer and Mary Alice Shourds Benvenuti, all of Our Lady Academy; Frederick W. Cherota Jr. and Patricia Durcote Cousins, both of St. Stanislaus; Lynda Caldwell Gilmore, Sandra Kay Gray, Patricia Perniciaro Harris, Dana Morgan Maddox, and Tanya Mitchell

Taylor, all of Bay High School.

Teachers from Waveland named for the honor include Harriet Ann Bellone of St. Clare School; Janet Kidd Freeman of Waveland Elementary School and Shelia Sturdivant McCarthy, a retired social studies teacher.

SSC Duke TIP students

Brother Ronald Hingle, principal of St. Stanislaus, has announced 24 seventh grade students have qualified for participation in the 19th Annual Scholastic Talent Search sponsored by the Duke University Talent Identification Program (TIP). Those recognized include, top row from left, Jeffrey Fine, David Bradley, Kevin Gallagher, Nicholas Weinmann, Spencer Zeigler, Colin Wilson, Christopher France and Christopher Roth; second row, Michael Iskander, Lawrence Nguyen, Brad Farrar, Joshua Lingsch, Miller Gordon, Jacob Johnson, James Brodtmann and Kevin D'Spain; bottom row, Thomas Koger, Andrew Waterman, Thomas Koch, Jeremy Burke, Paul Ticer, Richard Schorr, Jarrod Bourgeois and Mike Savage. The TIP program is conducted annually in a 16-state region in the South, Southwest and Midwest. Purpose is to identify academically superior students. Goal of the program is to assist participants by providing them with information about their ability and educational options. The students will now take the Scholastic Aptitude Test or the ACT Assessment, tests normally taken by college-bound juniors and seniors.

SSC Students of Month

St. Stanislaus named seven Students of the Month for September, according to Brother Ronald Hingle, SC, principal. The students include, from left, junior Charles Raymond, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Raymond III of Pass Christian; seventh grader Stefan Clayton, son of Maria Clayton and Ronald Clayton of Baton Rouge; senior Roger Ridgeway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Ridgeway Sr. of Pass Christian; sixth grader Robert Rountree, son of Georgia Rountree of Citronelle, Ala.; and eighth grader Ben Benvenuti, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Benvenuti of Bay St. Louis. Not pictured are sophomore Brandon Arcement, son of Mr. and Mrs. Barry Arcement of Pass Christian; and freshman Bryce Breland, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Breland of Waveland. The students are chosen on the basis of sincerity, respect, courtesy, cooperation, effort, service, moral character and achievement.

Harry Maurer

Comedian, magician Maurer now performing at New Palace

Direct from the showrooms of Atlantic City, magician Harry Maurer is the comedy star of the hit show "Dixie Jubilee" now appearing at the New Palace Casino through Jan. 3.

A casino comedy favorite, Maurer is popular for his audience interaction, his energetic "game show" personality and his ability to get audiences to loosen up and have fun. If you like magic, Harry Maurer is the magician to see.

Performing in nightclubs since the age of 13, Maurer first began performing on the casino stages with Joey Bishop and Jackie Vernon in a show called "Tribute to Vaudeville" in 1981.

The show was so successful that from its first day it sold out its nearly 2,000 seats daily for four continuous months which brought him to the attention of many Atlantic City and Las Vegas producers.

Soon afterward, at the age of 25, he was contracted to entertain and host two back-to-back shows at the Golden Nugget

Hotel which garnered him a prestigious "Atlantic City Entertainer of the Year Award," and over the years Maurer has grown to star in more than half of the showrooms in Atlantic City.

Spending 47 weeks each year traveling and entertaining audiences internationally, his shows are a carefully blended combination of magic, comedy and audience participation interspersed with grand illusions. Fun, but never offensive, he draws his audience into the act, frequently making patrons part of the show.

Maurer's special brand of magic can be seen nightly in "Dixie Jubilee" in the Palladium Showroom of the New Palace Casino in Biloxi. Also starring in "Dixie Jubilee" are Dixie Dave and the Dixie Cups, and singers Montana West and "Lady Patrice."

Showtimes are Sunday through Thursday, 3 and 7 p.m., Fridays and Saturdays at 7 and 9 p.m. No shows on Monday.

World's foremost mentalist to appear at Grand Showroom

Grand Casino Gulfport welcomes The Amazing Kreskin to the Mississippi Gulf Coast on Friday, Oct. 30, at 8 p.m. and Saturday, Oct. 31 at 7:30 and 10 p.m. in the Gulfport Grand Showroom.

The Amazing Kreskin, known as the world's foremost mentalist, has been entertaining audiences for more than 30 years. With a combination of wit and showmanship he has dazzled royalty, presidents and general audiences alike.

Kreskin does not claim to be a psychic or fortune-teller, but he has performed feats, which might lead audiences to think he is. He predicted the 1997 Academy Award winners the day before the Oscars were given out, and he once predicted the headlines of the New York Post, two weeks in advance.

Kreskin has been dramatizing the remarkable abilities of the human mind in personal and television appearances. He made his national television debut on The Steve Allen Show and has appeared over 500 times on national television, including a record 88 times on the Tonight Show.

As the subject of numerous articles in scientific journals and magazines, Kreskin has made unparalleled contributions to the study of parapsychology.

Kreskin dismisses any association with the occult and labels like psychic and medium.

"I am not a mind reader, because that implied I can totally penetrate the process of the human brain," he explains. "On many occasions, I can perceive a single thought or a series of simple thoughts if the subjects are turned into me and willing to open their imaginations to perceive or project. I can be totally helpless if they refuse."

For ticket information, call the Gulfport Showroom Box Office at 1-800-WIN-1111 ext. 1988. Tickets are $15 each and are also available at all Ticket-Master outlets.

HAPPY HALLOWEEN

Halloween Safety Tips

1. Don't go it alone. Trick or treaters should always go in groups, and younger children should be accompanied by an adult.
2. Beware of tricky costumes. Avoid masks that obstruct vision; theatrical makeup may be a better alternative. Additionally, make sure the costume allows child to move and run without tripping.
3. Maintain a high profile. When trick or treating at night, carry a flashlight or attach reflective tape to child's costume.
4. Teach street smarts. Remind your children to look both ways and to cross only at corners. Children should stick to a predetermined route and should be given a specific time at which to return home.
5. Don't invite trouble. Only accept treats at the front door. Never enter a stranger's home or car for any reason.
6. Play it safe. Discard any unwrapped candy and have a parent inspect all treats before eating.
